Jump on a call with the President:

The Iran deal is an historic one. After about two years of tough and intensive negotiations, the U.S. and our international partners reached a deal that will verifiably prevent Iran from obtaining a nuclear weapon.

We refused to take a bad deal, instead taking the time to press for a deal that met every one of our bottom lines. And that's exactly what we got.

But, as we've seen time and again, that won't stop politicians and pundits from spreading misinformation and falsehoods about the Iran deal.

That's why President Obama is hopping on the phone tonight to explain the deal and its importance to the country and the international community. And he wants you to join the call.

So tonight, at 6:00 p.m. Eastern Time, call 1-866-254-5934 and enter the passcode 365802.

You'll find the President on the other end, explaining exactly what you need to know about the Iran deal and what it means for the security of our country and that of our allies.

There's limited space for this opportunity, so set a reminder for 6:00 p.m. Eastern Time and jump on a call to learn everything you need to know about the Iran deal, straight from President Obama.

Until then, dig a little deeper into the details of this historic deal here:
